

KBCS home page

- Listen
- Programs
- News
- About Us

Incarcerated Women: Sustainability In Prisons Project

June 30, 2018 - 4:16 pm

The Sustainability In Prisons Project is just one of a number of programs available at Washington prisons to offer training and educational opportunities for inmates. You'll listen to incarcerated women at the Washington Corrections Center for Women in Gig Harbor from 2015 describing their work in this program.

Follow the link to listen to the story: <https://www.kbcs.fm/2018/06/30/incarcerated-women-sustainability-in-prisons-project/>

Photos by WCCW and Yuko Kodama

Inmate Apiary Program Participant, Tiffany Williams

<https://www.kbcs.fm/2018/06/30/incarcerated-women-sustainability-in-prisons-project/>

Mini Greenhouse

Horticulture beds

Seedlings in the conservation greenhouse

WCCW grounds

Inmate horticulture Program Participant, Buffy Henson

Horticulture Program Manager, Ed Tharpe

WCCW beehive